1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Closable Region

IA. A closable region comprising end parts of the first side wall and the second side wall.

IB. A closable region comprising an extension of the second side wall and an end part of the closure flap.

Bag Mouth

IIA. A bag mouth which comprises an end edge of the first wall.

IIB. A bag mouth which comprises a line of weakness.

IIC. A bag mouth which comprises a slit.

Bag End Structure

IIIA. An end structure comprising a base panel upon which the bag can stably stand.

IIIB. An end structure comprising a third flap overlying and peelably attached to the first side wall of the second side wall.

2. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species of closable region, a single species of bag mouth, and a single species of bag end structure to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

3. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.
4. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Each of the species is drawn to a separate technical feature.
